MAY BE CONCLUDED

Trial May Have Reached the Point By End of This Week
Where Lawyers Will Begin
Their Argument

FIERCE ATTACK COMING ON HARRIS TESTIMONY

The Defense Will Also Make Every Attempt to Break Down Story Told by Jim Conley, Negro Sweeney

The main points which the defense in the case of the state against Lee Frank, charged with the murder of Mary Phagan, will place before the jury in rebuttal of the prosecution will be given this week and by Saturday. It is expected that the trial will have reached the point where the lawyers that it is practically agreed that the defense will attempt during the next few days.

What the defense has in view, Attorneys Luther Rosser and Reese Arnold are naturally silent about, and whether or not they have something hitherto unknown that they will spring suddenly upon the state remains to be seen as the trial progresses.

Attack on Dr. Harris.

The testimony of Dr. H. F. Harris, who placed the time of the girl's death by the condition of the contents of her stomach, the damaging story of Jim Conley, whose testimony is the only direct evidence

There are many other features in the defense's case which will be brought out and there are many points for the defense which are expected to be placed before the jury between Monday and Saturday, but it is known that the defense will make its main preparations to break down the state's case before the jury reaches the second points above named.

The defense is also expected to bring evidence in an effort to convince the jury that the defendant was not on Saturday and that the person who shot the victim was not the person to that part of Conley's story in which he claims he and Frank carried out the shooting.

Guesswork Said Child.
Dr. Harris' testimony after his po mortem examination has already been attacked through Dr. L. W. Child, another expert, who, on having hypothetical questions propounded to him

Through Drs. T. H. Hancock, J. Ellis and Willis Westmoreland, who

Other physicians may be introduced but it is generally understood that these men will be the first called upon. Should the defense prove that the murder was committed or might be been committed later in the afternoon when Frank had already left for dinner, the way will be open for doubt in the minds of the jurymen as to many points which the state has introduced.

Through the two street car men who claim to have manned the car upon which the Phagen girl rode to town that day the defense has already attacked the statement of little George Epps, the newsboy, who claims that he rode with her, and that she told him to go to the factory for the money at about seven minutes after twelve.

Through a reporter who talked Epps on the day the body was found the defense has already started in show that the lad's story was of the fabrication of a childish mind.

That various attacks would be made upon Conley's story which the newspaper held to through thirteen hours

Jurors Have a Great Time Playing Jokes on Deputies

Chairs off and collars and ties hung carelessly on bedposts and convenient chairs the twelve jurors in the Frank case and Deputy Foster Hunter and Bob Devoivre, in charge of them, were taking a comfortable afternoon rest Sunday when suddenly a woman's voice in a plaintive key called loudly from the street. "Oh, Bob, Bob Devoivre!" The deputy leaped to his feet. He was certain he had heard his wife's voice, and though the suits of rooms in the Kimball house where the jury is quartered three floors above the street, the voice came from a window. The deputy rushed to the window and looked in vain. As he turned back to the room the first voice of a man repeated the call from the hall door. He rushed over only to hear the first voice call him from the other room. By this time Devoivre was thoroughly alarmed and several of the jurymen had drawn their feet from the beds and were waiting for the last juror had been listening to it. Winburn told him the plan. He was.

Main Points Held True.
The state contends, however, that while Conley, following the bent of an ignorant negro, has told the tale of the attack on the state, the main points were wheedled out of him by the state, and the circumstantial evidence which points toward it is not known whether they have been able to secure anything from the would-be evidence of the scores of Atlanta who have signed their willingness to swear that Conley was far above the average man in his personal character and in his business life.

In the evidence of Conley and of C. B. Dalton the defense recognizes that to a certain extent the man's character has already been put in against their will and by the testimony of Conley that he had never had women at the factory on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday morning, and that Conley never hung around the factory on those occasions, the first attack upon the state's case has already been made. Other factory employees and salesmen who claim to have been at the factory on those occasions are also expected to go upon the stand in full of the charges of the two state witnesses.

Character Issue.
Whether or not the defense will go further and try to make the state make a complete attack upon the state's case. Among attorneys who daily attend the hearings to watch the conduct of the case, this point has been the subject of animated discussion, some declaring that the state has an issue and others that a denial of the specific allegations will be as far as the defense will go.

That Frank has always denied such the improper attention of the state employees and that he asks for a complete refutation of the state's charges, as well as acquittal of the charges of the state, it is apparent that he is willing to risk his character, fully confident that it will stand the test.

When court convenes today Schuff is due to be again upon the stand as Solicitor Dorey had not completed his cross-examination when court adjourned Saturday afternoon.

At that time the solicitor was questioning the witness closely upon his testimony about the length of time taken to get up the financial sheet which the defense claims Frank made up on the afternoon of Saturday. The solicitor was attempting to trap Schuff into admitting that he had exaggerated the amount of work and the time necessary, and should be accused in this today, he was broken down one of the strongest and best pieces of evidence which the state has. Schuff was apparently unprepared, and was answered with points with clearness and rapidity, and it remains to be seen what the solicitor will accomplish by the cross-examination.

Jurors Have a Great Time Playing Jokes on Deputies

that the big blump on the side of the deputy's head was noticed and then there was no more amusements in holding it. That was the man whose gift of voice had started the commotion. The lump, however, proved to be only a case of a few moments' worry and the deputy spent the rest of an hour laughing at the joke played upon himself. The newspaperman Devoivre declared that if the joke was ever played upon him he would certainly study the art of throwing his voice, and would, in the reporter out of the sheriff's office some day with six imaginary bill collectors after him.

Holds Child in Arms.
Sunday was a quiet day with the jury. There had been only one cause of worry. That was the illness of M. J. Johnston, the juror who on Saturday night the juror had been allowed to hold the child in his arms and satisfy himself that it was fully recovered. It was the first time in two weeks that he had seen it and his anxiety over its condition had been felt by every one of the jury.

The monotony of the day of rest from seven hours a day in the jury room was broken by the arrival of Juror F. V. Smith, arrived with a baker's dozen of cup custards, more than enough to satisfy the jury. He was around and what the jurors all said was "Best custard I ever tasted." It was the gift of Mrs. Smith, the wife of the juror, who was ever more enjoyed.

Not one of the men whom jury duty has confined for a fortnight now, has the trying habit of smoking. They are all of them in the best of health and are all fellows who are sprung up that has cemented the first names and nicknames, for the one of the jurors has been named "Big Ben" and the other "Judge" and they range from "Judge" to "Big Ben."

CURRENCY REFORM MEETS TEST TODAY

and undoubtedly would withdraw from such their opposition to the bill and permit its speedy passage, and that they were willing to amend it by any extended fight. With the prospect of currency legislation ahead of the lower house, the republican senators have made it evident that they are not prepared to go over the tariff until the currency bill is passed.

Meantime the death of Senator Johnston has left a scant majority on the democratic side of the lower house. The leaders make apprehension, and would have the passage of the bill is still considered secure by a vote of 150 to 100. The strength in the senate is 59 to 41, the votes of Senators Thornton and Bangs, of Louisiana, are expected to be cast against the bill, because of its free silver clause.

House Caucus on Currency.
The house democratic caucus on the currency bill began at 2 o'clock this morning afternoon and is expected to run through several days. Representatives Taggart, of North Carolina; Neely, of Kansas; and Eagle, of Texas, all of whom have been in banking and currency committee, are in opposing Chairman Glass' favorable report on the bill. Representative Wingo, of Arkansas, another member, also will oppose certain features of the bill in the caucus, although he has given his support to the general features of the bill.

The chief fight is expected to center about the amendments favored by Representatives Henry, of Texas; Neely, of Kansas; and Secretary McAdoo. Since then the leaders in the movement have been organizing support for their amendments among the members of the house.

A fight will be made to have the cause thrown open to the public, the advocates of agricultural currency believe that publicity would greatly strengthen their fight. This contest, and that for amendments to the currency bill, will be continued in the morning. Interlocking boards of directors in national banks are expected to be the storm points in the caucus.

McAdoo Has Aided Currency Reform.
Secretary McAdoo has added considerable strength to the president's currency reform movement by his conference with bankers and his efforts to relieve crop-moving stringencies. Administration leaders hope that if the amendments proposed by the bankers last week, to the reserve sections of the bill, are adopted, much of the opposition now evident to immediate currency reform will be withdrawn. With currency and tariff the only important subjects actually before the house, the long continued lobby investigations divided interest with the activities of members of the two houses. It is expected an effort will be made to discuss the Mexican situation out of the deliberations of the house this week. The president's Mexican policies can be developed without embarrassment. The lobby investigations by the senate and house committees will be resumed tomorrow, with the prospect of lively sessions on the house side, where the investigations will be interrogated as to his relations as a lobbyist with members of congress. James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, by which Mulhall was employed, will continue the stand before the senate committee.

O'NEAL TO NAME U. S. SENATOR

Alabama Governor Thinks He Has Authority to Appoint Successor to Johnston. Contest Almost Certain.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 10.—Governor Emmet O'Neal tonight, as a result of constant conference with political advisers, has almost reached the conclusion that he has authority to appoint a successor to the late Senator Joseph J. Johnston at once. The preponderance of sentiment among visiting members of the United States senate and house was to the effect that Governor O'Neal had authority to make the appointment under the third paragraph of the seventeenth amendment to the constitution, which states that the governor shall fill the vacancy.

"This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election of any senator chosen before the amendment becomes valid as part of the constitution." Scores of well known politicians are here and the hot lobby tonight resembles a big political convention. Governor O'Neal will probably remain in Birmingham until Tuesday. He will review the Fourth Alabama regiment now in camp here and it is regarded as not unlikely that an appointment of an Alabama senator will be made before he returns to Montgomery.

Among those most prominently mentioned as possible appointees are: Congressman Henry D. Clayton, John B. Knox, of Anniston; Congressman R. H. Hitt, of Congress; and J. H. Underwood. If a special election is held it is thought Congressman R. P. Hobson and Congressman Clayton will be contestants.

Offer as to Governor's Power.
Washington, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Whether Governor Emmet O'Neal, of Alabama, has the power to appoint or to call an election to choose a successor to former Senator Johnston, unless specifically authorized to do so by the legislature, is still causing comment here. Under the constitution the times place and manner of holding popular elections for senator are fixed by state legislatures, subject to the will of congress. A few state legislatures have met since the new amendment was proclaimed, to provide machinery for carrying out the new provisions of the constitution, and to authorize the government to fill temporary vacancies.

Section 4 of article 1, of federal constitution received much attention in the senate. It provides: "The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature, but the congress may at any time by law alter or alter such regulations except as to the places of choosing senators." Contest is Likely.

Should Governor O'Neal call a special election to fill Senator Johnston's place, the successful candidate would go into office on Monday next. A similar situation exists in Maryland, where Governor Goldsborough has called a special election with the will of the legislature. Senator Bacon, of Georgia, a member of senate judiciary committee, holds very positively to the opinion that a governor must first ask the legislature to take action on the new amendment. Senators Kern, of Indiana, and John Sharp Williams, disagree with Mr. Bacon. Attorney General McReynolds said that in forwarding a copy of the new amendment to the attorney general of Alabama, at the latest of the larger harbors it is the governor must call the legislature to meet.

PEACE RESTORED IN THE BALKANS

Treaty Ending the War Is Signed at Bucharest—Guns Were Fired and Bells Were Rang in Honor of Event.

Bucharest, Rumania, August 10.—The peace treaty between the Balkan states was signed at 10:30 o'clock this morning. In honor of the occasion the city was decorated with flags, guns were fired, bells were rung and the bands played. A solemn mass in the cathedral at noon was attended by King Carol, Queen Elizabeth (Carmen Sylva) and members of the royal family and delegates to the peace conference. King Carol conferred high decorations on all the delegates except the Bulgarian, who declined them. The peace treaty provides that the Rumanian army shall evacuate Bulgarian territory in fifteen days after its signature, and the Serbian and Greek armies in three days. It also provides for arbitration by Belgium, Holland and Switzerland in the event of a disagreement over the delimitation of the new frontier. Bulgaria engages to begin demobilization immediately.

TACOMA IS ORDERED TO MEXICAN COAST
Washington, D. C., August 10.—Secretary Daniels announced tonight that the cruiser Tacoma had been ordered from Newport News to the east coast of Mexico to take aboard American citizens desiring to leave the turbulent southern republic. Many Americans have found refuge on board the battleship of Rear Admiral Fletcher's squadron, but as the battleship can go into a few of the larger harbors it was decided to dispatch a vessel of light draft to drop into shallow harbors along the coast. The Tacoma will proceed at once to San Blas, and then steam southward, probably to join the battleship off Vera Cruz.

SCANDALS GADORE STIR MISSISSIPPI

Gov. Brewer's Probe Reveals
Roguary and Graft in State Institutions—Many Officers Indicted and Convicted.

Jackson, Miss., August 10.—Investigation of irregularities in Mississippi's state institutions, principally the prison system, which already has resulted in conviction and sentencing of eight men, will be pressed vigorously the coming week and it is freely predicted that the scandal which started citizens all over the state has far from reached a climax. Governor Brewer has headed the investigation and brought charges before grand juries that have resulted in numerous indictments and convictions for bribery, graft and embezzlement. He is investigating stories of serious conditions at all the state prison farms.

When the Scandal Broke.
The scandal broke when Lawrence Targett, secretary of the prison board of trustees, was found short in his accounts about $10,000. He was sentenced to ten years' servitude. He implicated others in his downfall, and working on this evidence Governor Brewer and his assistants have been instrumental in convicting prison officers and former officers of crimes even down to petty thefts of machinery raised on the prison farms of the state. He now is probing into charges against prisoners on the Parchman farm suffered severely last winter because state officers at the farm sold to their own account large quantities of supplies purchased to feed and clothe the prisoners.

Charges of general laxity of performing duties at several of the farms and by the three members of the prison board of trustees resulted in the indictment of each of the three members on charges of misdemeanor in office. Colonel W. A. Montgomery, a member of the board and one of the best-known men in the state, was tried on this charge, convicted, fined $100 and ordered from office. He is holding his office, however, pending appeal of the case.

Conviction of the Convicts.
Indifference to duty is evinced in connection with the convicts. Prison fire on the Oakley farm, when thirty-five convicts trapped in an antiquated wooden "cage" last March, drew a special state committee that investigated the fire reported general mismanagement and lack of protection for prisoners at the Oakley farm.

The chairman of the prison board, who faces the misdemeanor charge, has been convicted of embezzlement. He is C. C. Smith, who now is serving a five-year sentence for a similar offense of taking $100 he obtained on an automobile loan made for the state. With the prison scandal stirring the whole state and prospects of a sweeping investigation into every corner of the state, Leigh Watkins, a clerk in the state land and water department, was sentenced to a year's servitude for other convictions in connection with the prison system.

London, former sergeant at Hankin farm, who pleaded guilty to stealing cotton grown on the farm, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. McGeehan, a former convict, pleaded guilty to the same charge and was given the same sentence. Miller, a wealthy planter, pleaded guilty to assisting Purvis and McGeehan and was fined $100.

Pound Guilt of Embezzlement.
There has been only one conviction so far as result of investigation of other departments. Last night, Thursday, when T. H. Turley, former steward at the state hotel, was found guilty of embezzling $100 and was sentenced to serve two years in prison.

Until now the investigation and trials have been confined to Jackson and Brandon, but Governor Brewer and his assistants now are turning to state institutions at Indian, Lexington, Chickasaw and other places. The success gained by the probe is expected at those towns soon. Governor Brewer intends first to sift out the prison situation and then take up investigation of other institutions. In prosecuting these investigations, Governor Brewer has even had to look into charges that murder has been committed in connection with the scandal. As is known the charges have not been substantiated. The scandal which has kept the state wide awake for almost two months, seems far from cleared up, according to those making the investigation.

A. H. HODGSON BURIED IN OOCNEE CEMETERY

Athens, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—Impressive simplicity marked the funeral exercises today when the remains of Aubrey H. Hodgson were laid to rest in Oocnee cemetery.

The funeral party came in from Oocnee on the train at 11 o'clock. The service was read by his former pastor, Rev. Dr. L. S. Hopkins of Atlanta. Chancelor Barrow led in the closing prayer and Judge Andrew Cobb said some appropriate things to the large company grouped about the grave in the still summer noontide.

The street car lines here of the company, of which he was director, suspended the current for five minutes in honor of the funeral hour and the Southern Mfg. Co. a cotton mill was closed last yesterday.

THOMASVILLE RECEIVES DEED FROM UNIVERSITY
Thomasville, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—The deed from the University of Georgia conveying to the city of Thomasville the school property in this city formerly used as the South Georgia College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts has been forwarded to Representative H. W. Hopkins and will be delivered by him to the officials of Thomasville upon his return here after the adjournment of the legislature.

The legislature of last year in a resolution approved on August 1, instructed the trustees of the university to convey the property to the city of Thomasville, but from one reason or another the matter was delayed until Representative Hopkins took it up a short time since.

M'NAUGHTON PLANNING TO RESUME PRACTICE

Will Take Up Medical Profession in Emanuel County, If Commission Grants Par-don.

Savannah, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—Dr. W. C. McNaughton, who is confined in the Chattahoochee jail under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Truitt, is planning to resume his medical practice.

Dr. McNaughton said today that he expected to receive a full pardon. "All I hope," he said, "is that the truth has been revealed and all of the facts before the commission properly. I am an innocent man, and nature will be satisfied with nothing less than a full pardon. Already nearly four years of my life have been taken away, and I am praying constantly that the wrong that has been done me will be righted by the granting of a pardon."

Dr. McNaughton is in rusty health despite his long confinement. He is a man who has led an active outdoor life and the fact that he has not suffered from the confinement is proof of a wonderful constitution. Dr. McNaughton is a favorite in the prison. When interviewed today he had just finished assisting the county physician in performing a surgical operation on a fellow prisoner, who had been injured.

The condemned man believes he can live down whatever sentiment there may be against him in his old home county. He has had several flattering propositions for his medical services, but if he is pardoned the chances are that he will reject all of these to return to Emanuel.

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS FUNERAL OF JOHNSTON

Remains of the Alabama Senator
Are Laid to Rest in Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., August 10.—Notwithstanding the request of the family that the funeral be made as simple as possible, a great crowd of distinguished men and women of Alabama assembled here today to do honor to Senator Joseph P. Johnston, of Alabama, who died in Washington last Friday. The funeral services were held at 11 o'clock this morning at St. Mary-on-the-Highlands Episcopal church, of which Senator Johnston had been for many years a vestryman. The remains were buried in Oak Hill cemetery. The services at the church and at the cemetery were conducted by Rev. W. L. Loughmy M. Claybrook, rector of St. Mary's church.

The center of the church was reserved for the family, the delegations from the house and senate, the governor of Alabama and other state officials.

Those attending the funeral from Washington included: Senators Blackburn of Alabama, Johnson of Maine, Brady of Idaho, Thorpe of Louisiana, Warren of Wyoming, Catron of New Mexico, and Vandamm of Mississippi; Congressmen Taylor, Blackburn, Clayton, Hedlin, Hobson, Burnett and Abernethy of Alabama; Webb of North Carolina, Austin of Tennessee, Howard of Georgia, Kelly of Michigan, Holt of California, McCallister of Tennessee, Morton of North Dakota and Charles Higgins, sergeant-at-arms of the senate; Robert B. Gordon, sergeant-at-arms of the house, and Joseph Elliott, doorkeeper of the house.

The floral offerings were far the most elaborate ever seen in Birmingham and included tokens from President Wilson, the senate and house and Confederate bodies with which the deceased senator had been associated.

Temporarily Handicapped.

(From Judge.)
Mr. Doughlin—I met that French nobleman, Count de Brin, today. Pretty Doughlin—Really? Is he a brilliant conversationalist?
Mr. Doughlin—Well, no, not at present. He has rheumatism in his shoulders.

stamps. In some of the pictures scarcely a trace was left to make the painting cattle from the August sun.

In Mississippi, Virginia, Maryland—almost everywhere in America—one can tell that his train is pulling into a rural community—and some of the urban community—by the rubbish that hangs on the brink of a cut, or by the little outcrops that line the right-of-way. Is this the way to advertise truth and intelligence?

Thanks to the far-sightedness of the rural school teachers of America, a right beginning has been made. Children are being taught that there is more in a white oak tree than cork wood; that squirrels and song birds are not our enemies; that flowers and vegetables will thrive where dogwood and sassafras grow; that the place for advertisements is in the newspaper.

Does it not seem strange that so many rural communities, and so many new towns, locate their burial grounds beside the railroad track? One village was observed to have two railroads and two cemeteries. One railroad was built alongside the old cemetery. The town located the new cemetery beside the old railroad.

Back in the quiet hills, away from the glare of the city curbs, in the rural place laid out for those people to use until cremation becomes a necessity.

That town is old. The gravestones in the two cemeteries outnumber the trees on the living population. The old cemetery is sadly neglected. Its beauty has decayed. The new cemetery is a flowerless, shrubless, unfenced field. As the train passed by a bull yearling was seen scratching a rumpled coat against a two thousand dollar monument.

Human hearts that are alive for the living are not natural beauty that the Creator has given to all alike. Natural beauty is the true expression of God. He who destroys natural beauty betrays God and hinders the development of the finer feelings of his fellow man.

HELP FOR THE FARMERS.

Help for the farmers, who have shown commendably little tendency to play to the limelight since its inception, has acted well in extending the intelligence facilities of his department. The old "crop reporter" of the department, a monthly publication, has practically outlived its usefulness. In these days of lightning facilities for communication, by the time it reached the farmer its tidings were stale and profitless. The secretary is now going to discontinue the monthly publication and substitute for it a weekly one.

Effective immediately, a weekly news letter will be mailed out to the 35,000 towns and 250,000 county reporters of the department. These men gather crop news and are, therefore, in constant contact with the farmers. They are ideally fitted to disseminate such information as the department may deem of use to the agricultural workers of the country.

The news letters will comprise information about crop conditions and prices, the discovery of new plant or animal pests, pure food decisions and other such matters of interest to the farmer. They are ideally fitted to disseminate such information as the department may deem of use to the agricultural workers of the country.

It would be well, if, in addition to the change now decreed, the department could improve the machinery for distribution at the disposal of its correspondents. For instance, many crop reporters, having other business on hand, may be unable to get the weekly bulletins out to the service. Should the government provide additional facilities to this end, the usefulness of the service would be materially enhanced.

The alashed skirt doesn't need the free advertising it is getting; being there with the goods it speaks for itself.

"Give Bryan a chance," says The Baltimore American. But the chautauques won't let us.

The money trust must win to witness the confidence the government has in the farmers of the country.

The salary of a congressman seems sufficient to make one resigned to the discomforts of a Washington summer.

New York voters have to tackle an 18-foot ballot, but they won't have to vote it on the long installment plan.

"British suffragettes sing in church." Have all the men in the run, they are trying to make the gospel fly.

In George Bailey's town religious services are held on the roof of a 16-story building, which will give George a chance to boast: "Houston is nearer heaven—on Sundays—than any other town in Texas."

Lecturer Bryan always has return dates, but just now there is some difficulty about returning.

A Story of the Moment

By WALTER HARRIS.

Too Much Economy.

"He well deserves our tears and tannu who have had to roam far from the home," remarked the wild man of the woods.
"Every morning when I wake I sing a song of praise because I am here in the forest and that fact alone shows how free is the spirit of life. If I started to sing songs of triumph at sunrise on the busy haunts, the nearest policeman would come and do me one, and then invite me to take a sociability run in the patrol wagon."

"I was especially fortunate in my wife, and yet I couldn't stand living in town; so it is a mystery to me how men less fortunate in their wives continue to endure the urban life year after year. My wife was a woman of queenly presence and so many virtues that a list of them would make a large book, but she had old-fashioned ideas of economy. I know that in these extraordinary times economy in a woman is considered a fine thing, but even the finest thing may be run into the ground, my son, and run into the ground it has meeting at a local hall. Tomorrow the welcoming program will be given, consisting of addresses by representatives of the state, city and local labor organizations, with responses. The "laws committee" has been in session for the past week, and it is expected that its report may precipitate a fight on the floor of the convention between the administrationists and anti-administrationists. Delegations from Calgary, Alberta, and Providence, R. I. are already here working for the convention in 1914.

(Repeated From Constitution of August 10th.)

This Announcement Is of Vital Interest to Everyone In Atlanta Who Has An Un- filled Want of Any Nature Whatsoever Every Man, Woman and Child Should Read All of It!

The Constitution inaugurates with this issue a much improved and greatly simplified system for the classification of its "WANT ADS."

This system is designed to add to your convenience and aid you in the use of our "WANT AD" columns. And, as will be readily seen, it does away with the annoyance experienced by the readers of "WANT ADS" in newspapers which do not use a method as complete as The Constitution's, in locating the particular offer for which they are searching.

On the first page of the "WANT AD" Section will be found an index showing the page and column in which the different classifications are to be found.

The larger classifications have been subdivided for your convenience, as follows:

HELP WANTED—Male

Stores and Offices
Professions and Trades
Salesmen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

HELP WANTED—Female

Stores and Offices
Domestics
Saleswomen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

FOR RENT—Rooms

Unfurnished—North Side
Unfurnished—South Side
Furnished—North Side
Furnished—South Side
Furnished or Unfurnished

REAL ESTATE—For Sale

Business District
Residence District
Suburban
Farm Lands
Timber Lands

Similar sub-classifications have already been arranged where necessary, and others will be added when advisable.

Under this arrangement every advertisement will be placed under the classification where it rightfully belongs.

It will not be necessary for you, when looking for business property under "REAL ESTATE—For Sale—Business District" for instance, to be bored with an account of the excellence of Prof. Dodo's method of instruction on the piccolo, for that information may be found under the classification "MUSIC and DANCING," where of course you would look, if you were at all interested in taking lessons on the piccolo.

Mr. Man Out-of-a-Job, who needs work badly, and is searching the "HELP WANTED" columns for a situation, will not have to read about the superior tables in the Umtump Pool Parlors, or the charm of some new drink—for these advertisements will appear under suitable classifications, but he will find only offers of positions, one or more of which may be just to his liking.

This idea will be followed throughout all classifications.

Advertisers will, of course, at once see the wisdom of The Constitution's system, for it means to them greatly increased returns for the money expended.

They will agree that a man who is seriously looking for a job, for instance, is not a very good prospect for a pool parlor, etc.

Another innovation is the "Too Late to Classify" column which will be found in the main news section every Sunday. In future The Constitution will close its regular classified forms for Sunday's paper at 10 P. M. Saturday night. Any "WANT ADS" received after that hour will appear in the "Too Late to Classify" column.

But the most interesting fact about The Constitution's "WANT AD" columns is that every advertisement appearing in these columns is paid for by the advertiser.

Therefore every advertisement means business.

The Constitution does not give away its advertising space, nor does it offer prizes to induce people to solicit "WANT ADS" for it.

The Constitution stands on the record it has made during the forty-five years of its life, and sells its space at a fair price to one and all alike.

The Constitution knows as well as the public that---
